Second Sunday in Ordinary Time

January 15, 2011

Here am I, Lord; I come to do your will.

On the Second Sunday in Ordinary Time, the Gospel continues to center on the manifestation of the Lord, which we celebrated last Sunday on Epiphany. From the Old Testament, we hear the call of Samuel, and with him say, "Speak", Lord, for you servant is listening." Then Paul reminds us that our call to discipleship makes us members of Christ's Body and temples of the Holy Spirit. Finally, from the disciples who leave John the Baptist to follow Jesus, we learn that being a disciple means not only staying with Jesus ourselves, but leading others to meet him as well.

Pastoral Reflection

In today's noisy world, stillness can be rare, and we might wonder what, if anything, can draw us into intimacy and meaning. Today's readings provide us with a key, for they call us to stop talking and listen.

In the first reading, Samuel hears the voice of the Lord but does not recognize it. It is Eli, in his wisdom and age, who knows that the proper response to this unknown call is to be still and listen.

When they first meet Jesus, John's disciples are tentative and tongue-tied. When Jesus asks what they want, they ask in return, "Where are you staying?"— as if they might want to get in touch at some later date. To this, Jesus' simple invitation is "Come, and you will see," and they spend the day with him. More importantly, they take the time to listen to Jesus.

When we like the first disciples, listen to God's voice, we deepen our commitment to the Lord. God calls us through what we see, hear, and feel. God speaks to us through creation and through the lives and words of ordinary people. In turn, we ourselves call others to God when we walk together on our faith journey.

May the Eucharist open our hearts to enter more deeply into communion with God and with each other. "Speak, Lord, for your servant is listening."

Weekend Collection

The collection for last weekend was $3,496.17. We are deeply grateful for your generosity in the weekly collection to St. Augustine Church, as well as your kindness in supporting us. We know how difficult the economic situation of our country is; but we desperately need your assistance to meet the needs of our parish. Please consider being as generous as possible, so that we in turn, will be able to provide for the needs of our families and our parish community. Once again we are grateful for your generosity.
